WEST VIRGINIA GOES "DRY" UNDER NEW LAW

Measure Has New Features Designed to Stamp Out Traffic.

Statewide prohibition of the liquor business in West Virginia became effective Monday at midnight. This brings the total number of states in the prohibition column up to nine.

With West Virginia added the list now comprises Georgia, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Tennessee. These nine states of total prohibition territory, plus the local no-liquor areas, make up 3,122,724 square miles in which 46,029,750 persons or nearly 50 per cent of the country's population live, according to the latest figures of the prohibition leaders.

The 92,000 majority with which the people of West Virginia accepted the dry proposition was relatively the largest ever given by any state. It was approximately two to one for statewide suppression of the liquor business. The state has a population of 1,231,119 by the census of 1910.

The mandate of the legislature, embodied in the Yost bill, for the enforcement of the new law, beginning July 1st, departs in many respects from the methods hitherto tried along this line. The chief features center about the creation of a commissioner of prohibition, the particular business of whom it will be to see that by next Tuesday at midnight some 1200 liquor selling places in the state have disposed of their stocks and that thereafter all persons shall be punished by law if they keep liquor for sale.

The new office of commissioner of prohibition automatically falls to Fred O. Blum, state tax commissioner. To save the state the time and expense of taking violations before state courts he has been urging municipal ordinances governing the violations, thus permitting the cases to be taken before the local courts. "In other states," says Mr. Blum, "where prohibition has been adopted, one of the forces that has had to be contended with has been the drug store. The Yost law will regulate this feature. Druggists may sell alcohol only to persons not addicted to its use upon prescription of a reputable physician, who has examined the person. The governing bodies of druggists have approved of this plan. For scientific or mechanical purposes alcohol will be sold only after affidavit as to its intended use, and uniform records of all such sales will be kept. No druggist, however, can sell in any form whisky, brandy, ale or any beverage of an intoxicating nature.

"The Yost law also undertakes to do away with the drinking clubs. It provides that any person directly or indirectly associated in keeping with a club house or other place where liquor is kept for gift, barter or sale, shall be punishable upon conviction by a fine of $100 to $500 and by imprisonment from one to six months."

Woolgrowers Urge Legislation.

As a result of the sheep and wool conference held recently in Washington growers and manufacturers are urging a federal bounty system as a means to exterminate predatory animals on Western ranges, the enactment of state laws to control dogs in farm states, the standardization of wool by the department of agriculture, the establishment of sheep breeding farms to determine the breeds of sheep best adapted to various conditions, and the creation of wool colleges for the promotion of more scientific methods in wool production.

In the report addressed to the secretary of agriculture by a committee appointed for the purpose, it is pointed out that the sheep industry of the United States is now valued at approximately $230,000,000, but that unfavorable conditions are causing the supply of sheep to decrease rapidly. The conference was called by the secretary in order to consider the problems presented by this situation.

A careful estimate indicates that approximately $15,000,000 worth of poultry and live stock are annually destroyed in this country by the depredations of predatory wild animals. In the Western States, on which most of this burden falls, the great percentage of these predatory animals are bred and raised on land properly withdrawn from settlement by the federal government. Under such conditions those interested in our animal husbandry feel that the nation should assume the share of this burden through a system of national bounties.

OLD SOLDIERS FOR SENATOR SMOOT.

Veterans of the Grand Army are urged by the National Tribune, the organ of the Grand Army, to line up on the side of Reed Smoot and do all possible to re-elect the senator. That paper in its last issue editorially says:

"It will be a misfortune to Utah and to the country if the combination of progressives and democrats defeats Senator Reed Smoot for re-election. They have united on an unknown man named James H. Moyle as Senator Smoot's successor. Whatever may be Mr. Moyle's capabilities at home, he will rattle around very disappointingly in the great space occupied by Senator Smoot. Senator Smoot has come to the front in the last few years in the most astonishing way as leader on the republican side of the senate. He is a hoarse Western man, wide-reaching and far-seeing, a very forceful speaker, thoroughly acquainted with public business, devoted to it, and thus has won the leadership over those less earnest, less industrious and less ready than he. He is always in his place in the committee or on the floor of the senate, pays strict attention to the business before him, and when he speaks commands attention for his knowledge of his subject and the strong common sense he applies to his consideration.

"He has been particularly valuable to the veterans, and insistent in season and out of season in everything relating to their interests. It would be impossible to replace him, for he has done them a service that probably no other man could, and no man can be of more service to them than he will be in the future if he retains his seat. In return for the arduous work that Senator Smoot has done for the veterans and their widows, every one of them should line himself up strongly on the side of Senator Smoot for re-election, and neglect nothing that will help him in his canvass. We simply cannot afford to lose so valuable a friend from the senate."

THE ALPACA WEEVIL IS SPREADING OVER STATE

That the alfalfa weevil is plundering the lucern fields of Northeastern Utah and spreading into the center of the state, according to George I. Reeves, head of the Salt Lake office of the United States bureau of entomology. The damage to the alfalfa fields by the insect this year is as great, if not greater, than last, and the bug is rapidly spreading.

As yet no effective method of killing the weevil or preventing its spreading into other sections of the state has been discovered. The farmers have been fighting the insect this spring, but the battle has been almost futile. The first crops were greatly damaged by the insect, but the second crops are practically destroyed where the weevil thrives.

Mr. Reeves says that it is impossible for the second crop of alfalfa to grow as long as the weevil is in the fields and that the second crop should be ready for cutting, were the weevil exterminated.

The weevil, which started in Parley's canyon several years ago, rapidly advanced over the northeastern section of the state, and is now passing into the lucern fields of central Utah. Although the agricultural department is making strenuous efforts to check the spread of the insect, its attempts so far have all proven useless.

Mr. Reeves states that the second crop of alfalfa had no chance at all with the weevil. It eats the plant as fast as it sprouts from the soil, and the farmers are losing all of the second crop and will probably lose the best of the third crop. The weevil is still one of the most dangerous enemies of the farmers and is rapidly spreading.

OFFICIAL NOTICE GIVEN TO BUSINESS INTERESTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—Definite and official notice to business interests and the country generally that congress will not adjourn without action on the administration trust legislation program was the primary object of a caucus of senate democrats called for today with President Wilson's approval.

A party agreement to pass the trade commission bill, the amended omnibus trust bill and the railroad securities bill was discussed at the White House today in conferences with administration leaders, who returned to the capitol with the word that the plan carried the backing of the president.

It was said at the White House today that the president would send no message to the caucus and that he had nothing to do, directly, with the calling of the caucus.

to the people whose relatives

the army at Gettysburg had thought by stating that the loss had been heavy. This news taken in connection with the previous statement that the battle was the severest of the war, naturally filled the minds of the people at home with anxiety as to the fate of their loved ones at the battle. General Meade stated in his dispatch that General Reynolds of Pennsylvania, Colonel E. E. Cross of New Hampshire, General Zook and General had been killed. He also mentioned the wounding of General Daniel E. B. and some of his brigade commanders. But he said nothing of the heroism in defense of Little Round Top of General Strong Vincent and General D. D. Wood.

NOTICE.—UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, Salt Lake City, Utah, July 10, 1914. To Whom It May Concern: Notice is hereby given that the state of Utah has filed in the office lists of lands, selected by said state, under section 8 of an act of congress, approved July 1, 1894, as Indemnity School lands: viz: Serial 012715, NE 1/4 Sec. 17, Twp. 13 South, Range 9 East, and Serial 012716, E 1/2 NE 1/4 Sec. 15, and SW 1/4 NW 1/4, Sec. 17, Twp. 13 South, Range 9 East, Salt Lake meridian.

Copies of said lists, so far as they relate to said tracts by descriptive subdivisions, have been posted in this office for inspection by any person interested and by the public generally.

During the period of publication of this notice, or any time thereafter, and before final approval or certification, under department regulations of April 25, 1907, protests or contests against the claim of the state to any of the tracts or subdivisions hereinbefore described on the ground that the same are more valuable for mineral than for agricultural purposes, will be received and noted for report to the general land office at Washington, D. C. Failure so to protest or contest, within the time specified, will be considered sufficient evidence of the non-mineral character of the tracts and the selections thereof being otherwise free from objection will be approved to the state.
